

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

A cannula hood for preventing disconnection of a cannula assembly from a syringe apparatus is provided. The cannula hood comprises a cylindrical portion and a tapered portion. The cylindrical portion may be designed to fit over a syringe body and to be retained by a 5 friction fit. The cannula hood may adapt a single compartment syringe or a multi-compartment syringe.